

MYTHS

FACTS

ABHA is only for the socio-economically backward population of the country.

Any individual in India can create ABHA.

Health ID and ABHA number are two different IDs. I need to have both of them.

Health ID and ABHA are the same. Health ID has been renamed to Ayushman Bharat Health Account (ABHA).

If I create ABHA, my data will be publicly available.

Your data will not be publicly available if you create ABHA. You can share your health records with healthcare professionals and facilities using ABHA only after your explicit consent.

ABHA can be used only in government facilities.

You can use your ABHA as a Health ID and to link your health records digitally at any ABDM registered health facility across public or private sector.

ABHA makes me eligible for PMJAY benefits.

ABHA is Ayushman Bharat Health Account that helps you get digital health services. This is not the same as the Ayushman Card given to only eligible beneficiaries of the AB-PMJAY scheme. ABHA doesn't promise any financial benefits.

ABHA can be created only by visiting government facilities.

You can create ABHA online from the ABDM website or any ABDM-integrated app or by visiting any ABDM-registered health facilities nearby.
